I work for the Department of Child Services, servicing abused and neglected children. We have a significant element of legal work in this field. I was looking for a way to stand out in a crowd of credentialed social workers, and a way to contribute to the discussion about how to improve child welfare. The M.J. program has really helped me accomplish that as I’ve quickly become a subject matter expert on child welfare issues.

I got into this program with a very specific, narrow direction, but what has surprised me is how much I have enjoyed all of the work, even in courses that don’t directly apply to my field. I have had the time of my life learning about the law at IU McKinney!

Anna Belle Pfau, ’19
Training Specialist, IU School of Social Work, Child Welfare Education and Training Partnership

I never had a desire to practice law but in my role as CEO of a private practice, I work with lawyers in a variety of settings. I wanted to have a better understanding of Employment Law, Contract Law and Stark Law/ Antitrust Law when dealing with staff and physician contracting, terminations, reprimands as well as hiring and recruiting. I can confidently say after completing the program that I understand the legal side of medicine a whole lot more than I did three years ago.

Jocelyn Forehand, M.J. ’18
Chief Executive Officer; Southside OB/GYN

Working for Kids’ Voice of Indiana, I was around the legal field every day, but wanted to deepen my understanding of the law in a way that was most beneficial to me and to add some support to my extremely busy staff attorneys. And knowing the impeccable reputation and a few esteemed individuals of IU McKinney, I knew it would be a great experience.

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana

Talk to us
Contact us today to discuss how an M.J. degree from IU McKinney School of Law can enhance your ability to reach your professional goals.

Miki Pike Hamstra
Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs
Phone: (317) 274-0402
Email: mhamstra@iupui.edu

Find out how an M.J. degree can advance your career

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
Robert H. McKinney School of Law

Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) Degree

Indian University Robert H. McKinney School of Law, in compliance with Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, does not discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, mental or physical handicap, age, gender, or sexual orientation in any of its policies, practices or procedures. This policy covers, but is not limited to, admissions, employment, financial aid, educational services, programs, and activities.

mckinneylaw.iu.edu
If you’ve ever wanted to learn more about the law as it impacts your profession and your life, but don’t want to practice law, this is the degree for you. Learning about the law is practical for a variety of career fields. Skills learned from M.J. legal studies include:

• Understand substantive areas of law
• Synthesizing information
• Critical thinking
• Analytical skills
• Seeing and approaching multiple sides to an argument
• Presenting information in a clear and effective way
• Understanding regulatory framework

M.J. students can choose from more than 150 courses at IU McKinney, ensuring that you gain knowledge you can utilize to transform your career. Professions that can benefit from legal knowledge include:

• Business and Corporate Affairs
• Compliance
• Education Leadership
• Employment and Human Resources
• Environment & Natural Resources
• Government Regulations
• Health and Science
• Intellectual Property
• International Business Transactions
• International Law
• Journalism
• Law Enforcement
• Legislative Initiatives
• Public Policy
• Social Work
• And many more

What a Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) degree can do for you

About the program
Master of Jurisprudence students must earn 30 credit hours to complete the degree. You may attend classes full time during our day program, or part time as part of our evening program, or a combination of the two.

Curriculum
2 required courses:
• Legal Process (2 credits)

Your choice of at least one of the following in your first Fall semester:
• Property (4 credits)
• Contracts (3 or 4 credits)
• Torts (4 credits)
• Criminal Law (3 credits)
• Constitutional Law (4 credits)

You may choose the remaining credit hours from the course list available online at mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj/_docs/CourseList.pdf

This excludes experiential learning classes designed for J.D. students who plan to practice law.

Individualized attention
As an M.J. student, you’ll design your own curriculum with an IU McKinney Law professor who can guide you to the classes that will be the most beneficial to your professional goals.

Eligibility
To be eligible for admission to the M.J. degree program, you must hold a bachelor’s degree from a U.S. institution of higher learning or an equivalent academic degree from an educational institution in another country. Those who hold a J.D. and other law degrees are ineligible for this degree.

Admissions Timeline
Admission decisions take place on a rolling basis throughout the year. Class size will be limited, however, so apply early. The first M.J. course will begin during the summer.

Cost
Visit mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj to learn more. Scholarships are available.

Please note that M.J. credits are not transferrable to a J.D. degree.

Tailored to fit your career

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

Take the next step

1. Talk to us to find out if an M.J. Degree is the right move for your career.
2. Download the M.J. application and checklist.
3. Review our online list of courses to see which classes would best help you meet your goals.
4. Apply to begin your education at IU McKinney Law.
5. Don’t hesitate to contact us if you have questions or concerns during the application process.

“I feel like I stole from the law school; the experience and the knowledge that I gained from the program itself are worth more than I paid for it. I think that the program itself is very accessible to working professionals.”

J. Bruce Wright, M.J. ‘18
Sergeant, Lawrence Police Department

“I wanted to pursue a higher degree that is HR-related. I considered an MBA, but they’re pretty heavily focused on finance. When someone told me about the M.J. program, I instantly knew it was the right option for me. I’ve always been drawn to legal and compliance related issues within HR and found this to be a great opportunity. I don’t want to be a lawyer, but believe a strong background in the law would be an asset to any HR professional.”

Aaron Coleman, ’19
HR Business Partner at the IU School of Medicine

If I had to single out one thing that rises above the rest of the things that I enjoyed, I would have to say it was being in an environment where diversity, ambition, critical thinking and collegiality are all a part of the status quo. I felt very much at home at McKinney and was treated with respect from all faculty, staff and especially the students. I miss it.

Lucy Bickett, M.J. ‘18
Administrative Director, Office of Admissions and Student Affairs, IU School of Dentistry

“I wanted to pursue a higher degree that is HR-related. I considered an MBA, but they’re pretty heavily focused on finance. When someone told me about the M.J. program, I instantly knew it was the right option for me. I’ve always been drawn to legal and compliance related issues within HR and found this to be a great opportunity. I don’t want to be a lawyer, but believe a strong background in the law would be an asset to any HR professional.”

Aaron Coleman, ’19
HR Business Partner at the IU School of Medicine

If I had to single out one thing that rises above the rest of the things that I enjoyed, I would have to say it was being in an environment where diversity, ambition, critical thinking and collegiality are all a part of the status quo. I felt very much at home at McKinney and was treated with respect from all faculty, staff and especially the students. I miss it.

Lucy Bickett, M.J. ‘18
Administrative Director, Office of Admissions and Student Affairs, IU School of Dentistry
If you’ve ever wanted to learn more about the law as it impacts your profession and your life, but don’t want to practice law, this is the degree for you. Learning about the law is practical for a variety of career fields. Skills learned from M.J. legal studies include:

• Understand substantive areas of law
• Synthesizing information
• Critical thinking
• Analytical skills
• Seeing and approaching multiple sides to an argument
• Presenting information in a clear and effective way
• Understanding regulatory framework

M.J. students can choose from more than 150 courses at IU McKinney, ensuring that you gain knowledge you can utilize to transform your career. Professions that can benefit from legal knowledge include:

• Business and Corporate Affairs
• Compliance
• Education Leadership
• Employment and Human Resources
• Environment & Natural Resources
• Government Regulations
• Health and Science
• Intellectual Property
• International Business Transactions
• International Law
• Journalism
• Law Enforcement
• Legislative Initiatives
• Public Policy
• Social Work
• And many more

What a Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) degree can do for you

Tailored to fit your career

About the program
Master of Jurisprudence students must earn 30 credit hours to complete the degree. You may attend classes full time during our day program, or part time as part of our evening program, or a combination of the two.

Curriculum
2 required courses:
• Legal Process (2 credits)

Your choice of at least one of the following in your first Fall semester:
• Property (4 credits)
• Contracts (3 or 4 credits)
• Torts (4 credits)
• Criminal Law (3 credits)
• Constitutional Law (4 credits)

You may choose the remaining credit hours from the course list available online at mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj/_docs/CourseList.pdf

This excludes experiential learning classes designed for J.D. students who plan to practice law.

Individualized attention
As an M.J. student, you’ll design your own curriculum with an IU McKinney Law professor who can guide you to the classes that will be the most beneficial to your professional goals.

Eligibility
To be eligible for admission to the M.J. degree program, you must hold a bachelor’s degree from a U.S. institution of higher learning or an equivalent academic degree from an educational institution in another country. Those who hold a J.D. and other law degrees are ineligible for this degree.

Admissions Timeline
Admission decisions take place on a rolling basis throughout the year. Class size will be limited, however, so apply early. The first M.J. course will begin during the summer.

Cost
Visit mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj to learn more. Scholarships are available.

Please note that M.J. credits are not transferrable to a J.D. degree.

I feel like I stole from the law school; the experience and the knowledge that I gained from the program itself are worth more than I paid for it. I think that the program itself is very accessible to working professionals.

J. Bruce Wright, M.J. ’18
Sergeant, Lawrence Police Department

I wanted to pursue a higher degree that is HR-related. I considered an MBA, but they’re pretty heavily focused on finance. When someone told me about the M.J. program, I instantly knew it was the right option for me. I’ve always been drawn to legal and compliance related issues within HR and found this to be a great opportunity. I don’t want to be a lawyer, but believe a strong background in the law would be an asset to any HR professional.

Aaron Coleman, ’19
HR Business Partner at the IU School of Medicine

If I had to single out one thing that rises above the rest of the things that I enjoyed, I would have to say it was being in an environment where diversity, ambition, critical thinking and collegiality are all a part of the status quo. I felt very much at home at McKinney and was treated with respect from all faculty, staff and especially the students. I miss it.

Lucy Bickett, M.J. ’18
Administrative Director, Office of Admissions and Student Affairs, IU School of Dentistry

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

Take the next step

1. Talk to us to find out if an M.J. Degree is the right move for your career.

2. Review our online list of courses to see which classes would best help you meet your goals.

3. Download the M.J. application and checklist.

4. Apply to begin your education at IU McKinney Law.

5. Don’t hesitate to contact us if you have questions or concerns during the application process.
If you’ve ever wanted to learn more about the law as it impacts your profession and your life, but don’t want to practice law, this is the degree for you. Learning about the law is practical for a variety of career fields.

Skills learned from M.J. legal studies include:
- Understand substantive areas of law
- Synthesizing information
- Critical thinking
- Analytical skills
- Seeing and approaching multiple sides to an argument
- Presenting information in a clear and effective way
- Understanding regulatory framework

M.J. students can choose from more than 150 courses at IU McKinney, ensuring that you gain knowledge you can utilize to transform your career. Professions that can benefit from legal knowledge include:
- Business and Corporate Affairs
- Compliance
- Education Leadership
- Employment and Human Resources
- Environment & Natural Resources
- Government Regulations
- Health and Science
- Intellectual Property
- International Business Transactions
- International Law
- Journalism
- Law Enforcement
- Legislative Initiatives
- Public Policy
- Social Work
- And many more

What a Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) degree can do for you

Master of Jurisprudence students must earn 30 credit hours to complete the degree. You may attend classes full time during our day program, or part time as part of our evening program, or a combination of the two.

Curriculum
2 required courses:
- Legal Process (2 credits)

Your choice of at least one of the following in your first Fall semester:
- Property (4 credits)
- Contracts (3 or 4 credits)
- Torts (4 credits)
- Criminal Law (3 credits)
- Constitutional Law (4 credits)

You may choose the remaining credit hours from the course list available online at mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj/_docs/CourseList.pdf

This excludes experiential learning classes designed for J.D. students who plan to practice law.

Individualized attention
As an M.J. student, you’ll design your own curriculum with an IU McKinney Law professor who can guide you to the classes that will be the most beneficial to your professional goals.

Eligibility
To be eligible for admission to the M.J. degree program, you must hold a bachelor’s degree from a U.S. institution of higher learning or an equivalent academic degree from an educational institution in another country. Those who hold a J.D. and other law degrees are ineligible for this degree.

Admissions Timeline
Admission decisions take place on a rolling basis throughout the year. Class size will be limited, however, so apply early. The first M.J. course will begin during the summer.

Cost
Visit mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj to learn more. Scholarships are available.

Please note that M.J. credits are not transferrable to a J.D. degree.

Tailored to fit your career

About the program
Master of Jurisprudence students must earn 30 credit hours to complete the degree. You may attend classes full time during our day program, or part time as part of our evening program, or a combination of the two.

Curriculum
2 required courses:
- Legal Process (2 credits)

Your choice of at least one of the following in your first Fall semester:
- Property (4 credits)
- Contracts (3 or 4 credits)
- Torts (4 credits)
- Criminal Law (3 credits)
- Constitutional Law (4 credits)

You may choose the remaining credit hours from the course list available online at mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj/_docs/CourseList.pdf

This excludes experiential learning classes designed for J.D. students who plan to practice law.

Individualized attention
As an M.J. student, you’ll design your own curriculum with an IU McKinney Law professor who can guide you to the classes that will be the most beneficial to your professional goals.

Eligibility
To be eligible for admission to the M.J. degree program, you must hold a bachelor’s degree from a U.S. institution of higher learning or an equivalent academic degree from an educational institution in another country. Those who hold a J.D. and other law degrees are ineligible for this degree.

Admissions Timeline
Admission decisions take place on a rolling basis throughout the year. Class size will be limited, however, so apply early. The first M.J. course will begin during the summer.

Cost
Visit mckinneylaw.iu.edu/admissions/mj to learn more. Scholarships are available.

Please note that M.J. credits are not transferrable to a J.D. degree.
Talk to us

Contact us today to discuss how an M.J. degree from IU McKinney School of Law can enhance your ability to reach your professional goals.

Miki Pike Hamstra
Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs
Phone: (317) 274-0402
Email: mhamstra@iupui.edu

Find out how an M.J. degree can advance your career

Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) Degree

Working for Kids’ Voice of Indiana, I was around the legal field every day, but wanted to deepen my understanding of the law in a way that was most beneficial to me and to add some support to my extremely busy staff attorneys. And knowing the impeccable reputation and a few esteemed individuals of IU McKinney, I knew it would be a great experience.

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana

"I work for the Department of Child Services, servicing abused and neglected children. We have a significant element of legal work in this field. I was looking for a way to stand out in a crowd of credentialed social workers, and a way to contribute to the discussion about how to improve child welfare. The M.J. program has really helped me accomplish that as I’ve quickly become a subject matter expert on child welfare issues. I got into this program with a very specific, narrow direction, but what has surprised me is how much I have enjoyed all of the work, even in courses that don’t directly apply to my field. I have had the time of my life learning about the law at IU McKinney!"

Anna Belle Pfau, ’19
Training Specialist, IU School of Social Work, Child Welfare Education and Training Partnership

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana

"I work for the Department of Child Services, servicing abused and neglected children. We have a significant element of legal work in this field. I was looking for a way to stand out in a crowd of credentialed social workers, and a way to contribute to the discussion about how to improve child welfare. The M.J. program has really helped me accomplish that as I’ve quickly become a subject matter expert on child welfare issues. I got into this program with a very specific, narrow direction, but what has surprised me is how much I have enjoyed all of the work, even in courses that don’t directly apply to my field. I have had the time of my life learning about the law at IU McKinney!"

Anna Belle Pfau, ’19
Training Specialist, IU School of Social Work, Child Welfare Education and Training Partnership

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana

"I work for the Department of Child Services, servicing abused and neglected children. We have a significant element of legal work in this field. I was looking for a way to stand out in a crowd of credentialed social workers, and a way to contribute to the discussion about how to improve child welfare. The M.J. program has really helped me accomplish that as I’ve quickly become a subject matter expert on child welfare issues. I got into this program with a very specific, narrow direction, but what has surprised me is how much I have enjoyed all of the work, even in courses that don’t directly apply to my field. I have had the time of my life learning about the law at IU McKinney!"

Anna Belle Pfau, ’19
Training Specialist, IU School of Social Work, Child Welfare Education and Training Partnership

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana
Talk to us

Contact us today to discuss how an M.J. degree from IU McKinney School of Law can enhance your ability to reach your professional goals.

Miki Pike Hamstra
Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs
Phone: (317) 274-0402
Email: mhamstra@iupui.edu

Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law, in compliance with Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, does not discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, mental or physical handicap, age, gender, or sexual orientation in any of its policies, practices or procedures. This policy covers, but is not limited to, admissions, employment, financial aid, educational services, programs, and activities.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
Robert H. McKinney School of Law

Master of Jurisprudence (M.J.) Degree

Find out how an M.J. degree can advance your career.

Working for Kids’ Voice of Indiana, I was around the legal field every day, but wanted to deepen my understanding of the law in a way that was most beneficial to me and to add some support to my extremely busy staff attorneys. And knowing the impeccable reputation and a few esteemed individuals of IU McKinney, I knew it would be a great experience.

The support and the connections that I have now with my fellow classmates and professors have been invaluable. What I gained both in and out of the classroom through the M.J. program has opened so many doors for me in my career. I enjoyed every second of it!

Eddie L. Rivers, Jr., M.J. ’17
Chief Development Officer, Kids’ Voice of Indiana