YOUR GIFT MATTERS.
This Dean’s Report recognizes our remarkable alumni and friends who have generously supported the IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law during the 2018-2019 fiscal year (July 1, 2018 to June 30, 2019).

This recognition is important because, to put it simply, we cannot do this without you. IU McKinney Law relies on private philanthropy to help provide student scholarships, experiential learning opportunities, and the ability to recruit and retain outstanding faculty. With the help of our generous donors, IU McKinney Law students will be the next generation of lawyers and leaders who will make an impact on our communities, our state of Indiana, the nation, and the world.

We are counting on them—and so very grateful that we can count on you.

Sincerely,
Andrew R. Klein
Dean and Paul E. Beam Professor of Law
2018-2019 Harrison Society: The Harrison Society at IU McKinney Law recognizes those donors with lifetime cumulative giving of $100,000 or more to the school. With such generosity, these donors have been instrumental in providing outstanding educational opportunities for our students, and for that, we are very grateful. The society is named in memory of former U.S. President Benjamin Harrison, a trustee of the original Indiana Law School and namesake of the Benjamin Harrison Law School, both predecessor schools of the law school.

“I contribute because my late father loved the school, especially its students, and he would have wanted me to do so. The school needs the support of alumni who have benefitted from the education received and experiences enjoyed there.”

KENT FRANSEN, ’75
“Forty-two years since graduation! Some things have not changed—thankfully. The deans and faculty of IU McKinney School of Law continue to deliver the best possible legal education—and as always, they do so with a genuine personal interest in the individual professional development of each student. Dean Klein’s leadership has been in the finest traditions of great deans like Harvey, Bepko, Frandsen and Lefstein. As a recipient of such an education it is an easy decision each year to make a gift to McKinney Law.”

“I feel like it’s important to support where you’ve come from, and it’s important to continue that support. The percentage of alumni who give consistently is as important as the amount they give. My family was not wealthy, and I don’t want only wealthy people to be able to afford law school. I am thankful for the education I received at IU McKinney because it has given me the ability to have a life that I would not otherwise have had.”

“Supporting IU McKinney Law is important to ensure that ambitious and deserving—but maybe underfunded—students have access to the same outstanding opportunities made available to me. In 2013, when the Indianapolis law firm Cohen & Malad, LLP, decided to make a meaningful charitable gift, choosing where to give was relatively easy.

“As a firm, we wanted to do something philanthropic,” says Richard E. Shevitz, partner at Cohen & Malad. “IU McKinney is the law school in our community, so it just made sense.”

But the how—that was another question. Shevitz and other members of the firm met with IU McKinney Dean Andrew R. Klein to discuss the possibilities. Pretty quickly, a winning idea emerged: a fellowship program that would benefit both law students and the legal community.

Through the Cohen & Malad, LLP, Fellowship, IU McKinney student recipients work on cases involving clients with consumer law matters through the law school’s pro bono partner organizations or through the law school’s clinical programs. The Cohen & Malad Fellow also serves an integral role in planning and implementing an annual event, designed to educate the legal community about these issues.

Since the inaugural event in 2016, topics have included consumer protection, the Holocaust and social justice, and the opioid addictions crisis. Cohen & Malad attorneys participate in the event and help identify topics and invite speakers, which they say has proven to be one of the unexpected joys.

In 2017, for example, Shevitz, a key leader and litigator in the effort to bring social justice to survivors of the Holocaust and their ancestors, discussed historic cases against companies such as Bayer and others who directly utilized and benefited from, the slave labor of the concentration camps.

“Working with IU McKinney and the Cohen & Malad Fellow each year is a creative exercise for us,” Shevitz says. “More importantly, we feel that we are providing students with a valuable opportunity.”

Cohen & Malad, LLP, was founded in 1968 by former Indiana Attorney General John J. Dillon, ’52, and Louis F. Cohen, among other individuals, and focuses on a wide range of litigation and business services, including consumer protection.

“It is an area of the law that is important, but is not often brought to students’ attention during law school. We wanted to use this program to create a footprint, so that students would see a way forward in this area of the law,” Shevitz said. “It’s working very well.”

The issues make headlines, and they also pose legal questions that intrigue Nicolas P. Terry, Hall Render Professor of Law and Executive Director of the esteemed William S. and Christine S. Hall Center for Law and Health at IU McKinney Law.

Born in England, Professor Terry was educated at Kingston University and the University of Cambridge, and he first taught at the University of Exeter in England before joining the Saint Louis University School of Law faculty, and, eventually IU McKinney, where he assumed leadership of the Hall Center after the late Professor Emerita Eleanor Kinney, founding director of the center, retired.

As a leading authority at the intersection of medicine, law, technology and other issues, Professor Terry helps make sense of the legal principles at stake. He is frequently called upon to share his expertise with health law colleagues, news media, and policy makers from the Indiana Statehouse to Washington, D.C.

As the opioid crisis has emerged as one of recent history’s most devastating public health issues, IU has taken a leading role in finding solutions through Responding to the Addictions Crisis Grand Challenges initiative, and Professor Terry is a member of the Grand Challenges Scientific Leadership Team.

The Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman Professorship was made possible by a generous gift to the law school from the late William S., ’51, and Christine S. Hall. Mr. Hall, founded the firm that is the namesake of this endowed professorship in 1967. The firm has focused its practice on health law and is now recognized as one of the nation’s preeminent health law firms.

AS YOU KNOW THE FIRST YEAR OF LAW SCHOOL IS INTENSE AND CAN BE OVERWHELMING. THERE ARE TIMES WHEN I WANTED TO DO A LITTLE LESS AND JUST GET BY. HAVING THIS SCHOLARSHIP WITH THE HIGHER EXPECTED GPA OF 3.2 PUSHED ME TO DO A LITTLE MORE BEFORE EACH EXAM, PAPER OR PRESENTATION. IT IS SAID THAT PEOPLE WILL RISE TO THE BAR THAT IS SET FOR THEM AND THIS SCHOLARSHIP RAISED THE BAR.”

“I want to thank you, as none of this would have been possible without your generous donations. Instead of helping Phi Delta Phi, the Dean Tutorial Society, working at the Indiana Supreme Court, or participating in litigation focused classes, I would have to work to afford going to McKinney. Without your assistance, I would have missed these wonderful opportunities to make a difference for other students, the school, and myself. You have relieved such a tremendous burden from my family’s shoulders, and we are incredibly grateful. Your donations make a world of difference for my family and many others.”

“Being named an IU Health Law Scholar has been the highlight of my time in law school. Such an accolade came at a time in my life where I was lost, unsure, and discouraged. Nonetheless, it came, and for that I am forever grateful. I have had so many opportunities come my way. I feel a sense of belonging. In addition, this scholarship has provided me with financial cushion while pursuing these two programs. It is indeed a dream come true to be awarded such a prestigious award.”

Scholarship, Fellowship, and Award Recipients

(TOP) Judy Wright, ’84, and Hon. L. Mark Bailey, ’82 with Christopher Blair, the 2018-2019 recipient of the Honorable L. Mark Bailey and Professor Judith K. Wright Scholarship.

John E. Marynell, ’67, earned his B.A. in Zoology at IU Bloomington and his J.D. at IU McKinney. He was a longtime friend and supporter of Indiana University, a donor recognized in IU’s prestigious Presidents Circle and an avid Hoosiers football and basketball fan. During his lifetime, he supported IU McKinney through an annually funded scholarship which he later endowed—the John E. Marynell Endowed Scholarship Fund. Sadly, he passed away in February 2019.

He was not the only one thinking of IU McKinney. His legacy of giving inspired those around him—including a long-time donor to IU McKinney who never even attended law school. Knowing how important giving back to the law school was to him, his very close friend from his undergrad days in Bloomington annually supported Marynell’s scholarship for many years. She even accompanied him to meet some of the scholarship recipients over the years.

Marynell had generously made arrangements to leave a bequest to the law school earmarked for his scholarship. Upon reflection, Marynell changed his plans and decided to advance his bequest, making the gift during his lifetime. Later, his family asked that, in lieu of flowers at his funeral, his friends could make a donation to the Marynell Scholarship.

In 2018, John’s close friend passed away. She shared the many memories of their long friendship and loyalty to IU and also knew that IU McKinney was one of John’s favorite causes. Although she had no connection to the law school other than Marynell, she also arranged to carry on his memory and legacy by making a bequest of her own to her friend’s scholarship fund.
