Example language for educational objectives for experiential learning courses that includes wellness or well-being as integral to the practice of law:

The educational objectives for this course include offering students the opportunity to:

a. Learn about the practice of law;
b. Use and test skills of legal research, legal writing, case analysis, and statutory construction;
c. Communicate legal conclusions and recommendations of legal work to supervising attorneys;
d. Experience how the ethical, policy, and legal issues of the legal process and our government systems affect the practice of law;
e. Develop skills and strategies for effective and satisfying work experience, while working at a law office or clinic, working remotely, or a combination of the two.
f. Develop their ability to learn from experience and to manage their own education, including developing an awareness of the connection between wellness and the practice of law;
g. Set and meet the student’s individualized educational objectives, as outlined here, and as further developed with an individualized development plan (IDP) as the semester progresses. I, [student name] seek to learn specifically during this externship semester, the following:
   i.
   ii.
   iii. . . . ; and,